The square, located in the center of downtown Kirksville, continues to provide townpeople with a variety of merchants. Pictured to the right is the west side of the square in the early 1900's. This picture appeared on a McKeenham Drugs' postcard. The far right pictures the northeast corner of the square where the Baxter-Miller apartments are today. It was known as the post office block and owned by the Kirksville Real Estate Company. Pictured below is the southwest corner of the square, the Updyke block. This section was occupied by Harp's Drug Store, the Bee Hive Saloon and the Ben A. Taylor Cigar Manufacturer, Minn's Tea House and Western Auto are there today. The next picture, of John L. Porter's corner, was on the northwest where R & R Western Wear and the Chariton Book Store are today. The dry goods store, Lowenstein and Marks, and the Helme Hardware Company are shown. To the far right is the National Bank on the southeast corner of the square, which today is Pagliai's. These pictures appeared in "Picturesque Kirksville, Souvenir Gems of 1900 as Seen Through the Camera."
